Why Children Die.

The reason why children die, says Hall's Journal of Health, is because they are not taken care of. From the day of their birth they are stifled with food, choked with physic, sloshed with water, suffocated in hot rooms, steamed in bed clothes. So much for indoor. When permitted to breathe of pure air, once a week in summer, once or twice in colder months, only the nose is allowed to peep in daylight. A little later they are sent out with no clothes on at all on parts of the body which most need protection. Bare legs, bare arms, bare neck, girted middle, inverted umbrella to collect the air and chill the other part of the body. A stout strong man goes on a cold day with gloves and overcoat, woolen stockings, and thick double sole boots with cork between and rubbers over. The same day a child of three years old an infant of flesh and blood, and bone and constitution, goes out with shoes as thin as paper, cotton socks, legs uncovered to the knees, neck bare; exposure which would disable the nurse, kill the mother outright, and make the father invalid for weeks. And why? To harden them to a mode of dress, which they are never expected to practice. To accustom them to exposure which a dozen years later would be considered foolery. To raise children thus for the slaughter pen, and lay it to the Lord, is too bad.

We don't think the Almighty had any hand in it. And to draw comfort in the presumption that He had any agency in the death of the child, is a presumption and profanation.

Warmed Over Meats.—Boiled or roasted veal makes a nice dish, chopped fine and warmed up, with just sufficient water to moisten it, and a little butter, salt, and pepper added. Fresh or corned beef is good minced fine, with boiled potatoes, and warmed up with salt, pepper and a little water; add butter just before you take it up. Some people use the gravy they have left the day before, for the meat, but it is not as good when warmed over, and there is no need of its being wasted, as it can be clarified and used for other purposes. Boiled onions or turnips are good mixed with mince meat, instead of potatoes. Veal, lamb and mutton are good cut into small strips and warmed with boiled potatoes cut in slices, pepper, salt, a little water—and butter just before you take it up. Roast beef and mutton, if not previously cooked too much, are nice cut in slices, and just scorched on a gridiron. Meat, when warmed over, should be on the fire just long enough to get well heated through—if on the fire long, most of the juice of the meat will be extracted and render it very indigestible. Cold fowls are nice jointed and warmed with a little water, then taken up and fried in butter till brown. A little thickened flour should be sprinkled on them before frying. Thicken the water that the fowls were warmed in—add a little salt, pepper and butter, and turn it over the fowls.

CURE FOR NEURALGIA.—Some time since, we published, at the request of a friend, a recipe to cure neuralgia. Half drachm of sal ammonia in an ounce of camphor water, to be taken a teaspoonful at a dose, repeated several times at intervals of five minutes, if the pain be not relieved at once. Half a dozen different persons have since tried the recipe, and in every case an immediate cure was effected. In one, the sufferer, a lady, had been subject to acute pains for more than a week, and her physician was unable to alleviate her sufferings, when a solution of sal ammonia in camphor water relieved her in a few minutes.

Wise and Otherwise.

A Negro Marriage.

Mr. Edmon:—The following marriage ceremony I recently obtained from one of my negroes, and if you think it will interest any of your readers, you may publish it.

"Here is a couple who have walked out to-night, wishing to be joined in, and through love and wishing all dem dat have any ting twixen dem come forward and speak now, if not, let dem hold dar peace now and forever more. I wants every ear to hear and heart to enjoy.

"Mr. Jim Thompson, whomsoever stands fastly by your left side, do you take her for your dearly beloved wife, to wait on her through sickness and through health, safe and be safe, holy and be holy, loving and be loving? Do you love her mother? Do you love her father? Do you love her brothers? Do you love her sisters? Do you love her master? Do you love her mistress? But do you love God the best?"

Answer—"I do."

"Miss Mary Thompson, whomsoever stands fastly by your right side, do you take to be your dearly beloved husband, to wait on him through health and confusion, safe and safe, holy and holy? Do you love his mother? Do you love his father? Do you love his brothers? Do you love his sisters? Do you love God the best?"

Answer—"I will."

"I shall pronounce Mr. Jim to hold Miss Mary fastly by the right hand, and I shall pronounce you both to be man and wife, by the Commandments of God. We shall hope and trusting through God that you may live right, that you may die right, now and forever more. Now, Mr. Jim, slew your bride.

"Let us sing a hime:
"Plunged in a gulf of dark despair,
Ye wretched sinners are, &c. Amen."

As an antidote to the "over-whelming flood of eloquence" that flowed in upon us from the down cast "Orator of the Feelings," we have this modest effort of a candidate for the attorneyship of one of the western counties of Arkansas:

"Shall Arkansas somnambulate in dreamy indifference her fertile soil, her flowing rivers, her diversified minerals, beckoning onward, and crying out in mute munificence, progress, and advancement; while above and beneath her the roar of mighty nature, struggling in the potency of her omnipotency, bids onward, and around her everywhere the noise of the hammer of enlightened advancement trumpets the onward and upward march of the world? Echo, of course, cannot but answer, No!"

TIME AND TIDE, which are said to wait for no man, are, nevertheless, far from regular in their own habits.

Two kinds of time are used in Almanacs; clock or mean-time in some, and apparent or sun-time in others. Clock-time is always right, while Sun-time varies every day. People generally suppose it is twelve o'clock when the sun is due south, or at a properly made noon-mark. But this is a mistake.—The sun is seldom on the meridian at twelve o'clock; indeed, this is the case only on four days of the year: namely, April 15, June 15, September 1, and December 24.

La Place pronounces the formula for deducting the tides the most difficult problem of celestial mechanics. It sometimes happens that the tide comes in several hours later or earlier than the most learned calculation would determine; and this too in consequence of the strength and direction of the wind, which the calculator cannot reckon upon.

"You would be very pretty, indeed," said a gentleman patronizingly, to a young lady, "if your eyes were only a little larger."

"My eyes may be very small, sir," was the reply, "but such people as you don't fill them."
